TWO MILLION DOLLAR FIRE AT ATHENS, GA.

GREATER PART OF DOWNTOWN DISTRICT, ATHENS, IS SMOLDERING RUINS

ATLANTA FIREMEN RESPOND TO CALL BY SPECIAL TRAIN

(The Associated Press.)
ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 25.—A large part of Athens' downtown business district is a mass of smoldering ruins today and it is estimated that the fire, which early this morning swept clean three city blocks and damaged adjoining buildings, had destroyed property valued at more than two million dollars. No loss of life was reported.

The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out shortly after midnight and it was hours later before the combined efforts of firemen from Atlanta, this and other cities succeeded in gaining control. The rapid spread of the blaze was said to have been due to explosion of gasoline drums in the Joseph building on Wall street, which was occupied by a motor company.

The latest estimates after an examination of the debris today placed the loss at approximately two million dollars, which property owners said will be well covered by insurance. Chief McGorman, of the Athens fire department, was the only casualty reported. He fell from a ladder and is in a hospital in a serious condition. While the origin is still undetermined, it is believed the flames started in a restaurant.

WAR TALK IS BYING AWAY IN JAPANESE NEWSPAPERS, SAID

(United Press.)
TOYO, Jan. 19.—(By Mail.)—While isolated quotations from speeches of statesmen of office may be printed occasionally to prove apparently belligerent feelings on the part of Japan toward the United States there can be no doubt but that the people of Japan do not wish for war. Nor are they very vitally interested in the issues which are supposed to make for war. This does not mean that it is at all impossible to irritate and insult Japanese national pride that Japan may feel driven into a fight, preferring even to be beaten to accepting insult without protest. But even though a few politicians anxious to make a case against the government may be found in Japan who make statements which appear very warlike, it seems apparent that, instead of interest and indignation against the United States in the matter of Japanese immigration to the U. S., increasing the public is beginning to tire of the matter.

At present the government is sitting tight, desiring that all matters connected with the California question be let alone, at least until such time as some definite outcome of the present Washington negotiations is at hand. The foreign office merely lets it be known that these negotiations are making satisfactory progress. It is evident that it now feels that the matter has reached the point where the State department at Washington must feel out the Senate to ascertain whether it will be safe to submit to that body such provisions which have been agreed upon between Ambassador Shidehara and the officials of the State Department. If it is deemed fairly certain that the Senate will agree to these arrangements, the whole matter will be considered as practically settled. If, on the other hand, it is decided that there is a fair chance of the Senate's turning down the proposal, it will not be submitted at all. Just Japan's pride be exposed to further humiliation in the Senate.

Keeping the public quiet is, however, not anything like as great a task as it was a couple of months ago. The Japanese are a volatile people. The great limitations of the franchise of itself in matters political, and the newspapers which stirred up most of the row by seeking other subjects, only referring to the California issue often enough to keep it from being forgotten entirely.

PAGAN FILIPINO'S "SHIMMY" WILL NOT PASS CENSOR LONG

(United Press.)
MANILA, Jan. 24.—The mountain province native's "shimmy" must go from the Philippines if a bill filed with the secretary of the senate by Senator Lope E. Santos becomes a law. According to the wording of Mr. Santos' presentation the officials of the non-Christian tribes the inhabitants of settlements and ranches and the children going to school will be prohibited from appearing in public wearing only the customary garment.

Anyone who should violate this proposed law would be imprisoned for from thirty days to five years. If the offender were a school student, disciplinary action would be taken by the superintendent. The bill would go into effect two years after it was passed. During the meantime each province must have bought and distributed clothing at cost to the mountain province people who now find a one-piece dhoti sufficient.

Senator Santos said the appearance in public of half-naked pagans is a shameful exhibition and is capitalized by opponents of Philippine independence as demonstrating Filipino incapacity of self-government. He said that to force them in this way to wear clothes would be more effective than to educate them in schools to do it.

He said that the experience with pagans taught him that when school children go back to their tribes they forget what they learn about society. Senator Santos is the author of another bill now pending which proposes to allot Filipino names to the pagans.

Last year the United States produced $667,204,000 worth of rubber products.

JACKSONVILLE WILL BE NEW MEMBER IN FLA. STATE LEAGUE

(United Press.)
JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 25.—Local baseball enthusiasts last night took steps to restore professional baseball to this city when, at a meeting held in the chamber of commerce, the necessary funds to guarantee that Jacksonville would finish out the schedule were placed in the hands of a committee, consisting of Dominick J. Mulaney, temporary president of the Jacksonville Baseball club; Sam Ellis, sporting editor of the Metropolis, and Harry Culley, Jr., sporting editor of the Times-Union. This committee will attend the Florida State League meeting in Orlando this afternoon and will make formal application for a franchise in that circuit. The remaining money necessary to finance the team has been virtually assured, and a committee appointed by President Mulaney will begin canvassing at once. It is expected that the entire amount will be secured within the next ten days. Present organization of the local club will be effected as soon as the remaining funds are subscribed.

The attendance at last night's meeting was hardly as large as was expected but what the gathering lacked in numbers it more than made up for in enthusiasm. Several optimistic talks were made by fans present after the purpose had been explained and Dominick Mulaney selected as temporary president and Harry Culley, Jr., as temporary secretary.

HARDING WILL HAVE ALL APPOINTMENTS READY TO OFFER CONGRESS, MARCH 4

PRICE OF BREAD TO TOPPLE PREMIER OF ITALY, IS A REPORT

(United Press.)
ROME, Jan. 25.—Premier Giolitti is preparing to meet the hardest and most critical fight of his career when parliament reopens on January 26. The fight will be based on his upholding the program for increasing the price of bread, the question which caused the downfall of Former Premier Nitti.

Despite Giolitti's success in the Soviet upheaval in Italy, the irascible question and Fiume, it is generally expected that it will require all his prestige and parliamentary ability to tide him over the fight which will be waged on him by Socialists fighting the bill to increase bread prices.

Final preparations for the fight began when Giolitti returned to Rome and held the first of what is planned to be a series of daily meetings of the cabinet.

Meanwhile Socialists already have circulated their 150 members of parliament, notifying them that the Socialists are expected to adopt obstructive tactics, similar to those employed in the United States Congress. This method was first put to use in parliament here last December.

Since the war Italy, like other allied countries, has been buying wheat and selling to the public at less than cost for the purpose of preventing bread prices from becoming prohibitive. By selling wheat at a price of 100 lire per quintal, wheat that cost 300 lire, the government has been able to maintain a retail price for bread at a lire per cilo.

This program costs Italy 6,000,000,000 lire per annum and constitutes half the annual budget deficit. Giolitti's bill, providing for increasing the price of bread to 1 lire, thirty, per cilo, was prepared by Food minister Sobri. It would add 2,000,000,000 lire to the wheat purchasing fund and the remaining 4,000,000,000 lire would be added on by taxes, principally a fifty per cent tax on the country's actual production of 45,000,000 hectoliters.

Socialists are opposing both the increase in the price of bread as well as increasing taxation, insisting that the money necessary to maintain the present bread prices come exclusively from capitalists and war profiteers.

It appeared certain today that the opening of parliament will be attended by stormy scenes, possibly eclipsing those disturbances of the December session.

FAIR WEATHER VERSE

For over 50 years of service the United States weather bureau has scoffed at "weather signs." Its work, of course, is conducted on a scientific basis and it takes no stock in the "goosebone prophet" school.

But some hundreds of years before there was a weather bureau there were weather "forecasters," and some of them put their signs in rudely constructed verse. And a great many people, while perhaps they much prefer the prognostications of the weather bureau, pay a little bit of sneaking attention to these olden-times couplets.

Along about Candlemas Day, Feb. 2, these will recall:

"If Candlemas is fair and clear, there'll be two winters in the year." And there are many other lines calculated to give a line on the weather if the pun is allowed. Here are some of them:

"As the days lengthen so the cold strengthens."

"A rainbow in the morning is the shepherd's warning; but a rainbow at night is the shepherd's delight."

"When the wind's in the east it is good for neither man nor beast; when the wind's in the south it's in the rain mouth."

"No weather is 'il' if the wind be still."

"A snow year, a rich year."

"Winter's thunder is summer's wonder."

"The evening red, the morning gray, are certain signs of a fair day."

"In the waning of the moon, a cloudy morn, fair afternoon. And do not forget that other old timer:

If the groundhog sees his shadow on Feb. 2, six weeks more of cold weather!"

IMPROVING ON NATURE

The eye appeal counts most with food products and no other method comparable to it in selling has been found. The English walnut growers of California, getting their product ready for market, might be accused of trying to improve on nature.

A walnut in the retail store has a different look from a walnut just harvested in the grove. This is because the practice of bleaching walnuts is general.

Locality has some influence—nuts grown in fog-free districts are noticeably lighter colored—but the alluring uniform hue of the marketed nut is the product of dipping tanks. This is done at the association packing houses. With machinery, the nuts are dipped very briefly—five to ten seconds—in a solution of lime, sal soda and sulphuric acid. The nuts are then thoroughly dried at once.

The cost of the operating in the large packing houses, is almost negligible. It markedly increases the eye appeal of the walnuts and indirectly, over a period of years, probably adds cents to the selling price.

As one would expect, there are various home methods, practiced by individual growers, for making the nut very presentable. Washing, brushing are both performed. Rolling in a perforated barrel is a way to remove dirt.

Sulphur fumes are sometimes used as a bleaching agent, much as California do in sulphuring fruits before drying. It is not, however, a very satisfactory method, as great care must be exercised or the flavor of the walnut kernel will be hurt.

Yes, nature can sometimes be improved on. The walnut growers have demonstrated the fact.

MIX AND TAKE

Perhaps 95 out of a hundred American families some time or other have been the recipients of a little piece of paper from their family physician upon which were inscribed the magic marks which, transformed into liquid or powders by the skilled pharmacist on the corner, would cure the patient's ills, little matter what they were.

And perhaps it is also true that here and yellow with age grandma and grandpa have tucked away somewhere—most likely in the Bible—a special prescription for something or other which they propose to hand down to sons or daughters, which they received from their parents. And the chances are that there are two marks, frequently printed marks, on these prescriptions, now as of old, which very few understand.

These are the letter "R" in the upper left-hand corner, and the letter "M" in the lower right-hand corner. There's a line drawn at an angle following the "R."

Both these letters are Latin. The "R" is Latin for "recipe," the imperative mood or "recipere" meaning "take." The "M" used to represent "misce" the imperative mood for "Misce" which simply means "mix together."

It is all very simple! "Mix your medicine thoroughly—and then take it"—of course.

SOME ANCIENT RECIPES

Some of the belles of 1600 were troubled with freckles just as the young women, some of them of 1921 are. Yes, and what did the belle of 1600 do about them? Very simple. She turned to a page in "A Book of Physicke and Chirurgery," and when she found the paragraph, "To Take Away Freckles," she followed it: "Take the blood of a hare, anoint them (the freckles) with it, and it will do them away." Easy.

In this wonderful book may be found how, "To make an aching tooth fall out." It advises one to "take wheat meal and mix with the milk of a herb called spurge, and make a paste, put that in the cavity and the tooth will fall out."

For headache, the advice is, "Set a dish or platter of tynne upon the bare head filled with water, put an ounce and a half or two ounces of molten lead therein, while ye hath it upon thy head, and that will help wonderfully."

This quaint Englishman means, of course, to fill the tynne and not the "bare head" with water—but a little slip like that doesn't mean anything if the cure does the business.

It must have been a serious thing to have had freckles, a toothache all at the same time, in those days.

"We wish you the best of everything for 1921—Rowe's." 12-28-11.

EVEN CHINESE GIRLS WEARING 'EM SHORTER

(International News Service.)
SHANGHAI, Jan. 25.—The chief of police in Shanghai has issued an edict against the extravagant styles now worn by Chinese women. It warns Chinese women against aping foreign styles with the display of ankles and bare arms.

"Women's wearing apparel," says the edict, "is mostly too short, permitting the exposure of arms and ankles. Some of the clothing is an imitation of foreign styles making the wearer neither foreign or Chinese. The wearers are devoid of shame and frequent public streets without embarrassment."

"In future all such women will be arrested and fined."

English Knight Will Make Attempt Scale Peak of Mt. Everest

(The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Mt. Everest, the Himalayan peak called "the roof of the world" which Sir Francis Young, husband, the British soldier-explorer, will attempt to climb next summer, has never yet been scaled by man.

Towering above the frontiers of the hitherto forbidden land of Tibet and the remote province of Nepal, India, another land of mystery, the difficult-to-reach even approaching Mt. Everest have been sufficient to baffle explorers.

The world's highest peak lies in Tibet north of the British Indian border, yet so far as known, no European has ever approached nearer than 60 miles from its base and few travelers have ever seen its upper slopes.

The attempts which have been made to ascend some of Mt. Everest's sister peaks of the Himalayas have usually been made through Nepal because access to them through Tibet was not open. The approach to Mt. Everest through Tibet is said to be more accessible and present greater prospects of success than from Nepal side.

Sir Francis Younghusband announced that the Tibetan government had granted him permission to attempt the ascent of the mountain by the Tibetan route. It was Sir Francis who as colonel commanding a British mission to the Forbidden City of Lhasa in 1902-3, opened Tibet to civilization.

Mt. Everest named for Sir George Everest, famous British surveyor general of India, is the highest known mountain in the world. Its trigonometric altitude is 29,002 feet; its probable height is 29,141 feet. The next known highest of the Himalayan peaks are Kanchenjunga, 28,256 feet, and K-2 or Bride peak, whose altitude is 28,191 feet.

The intrepid Duke of Abruzzi, who reached the top of Mt. St. Elias in Alaska (18,924 feet) and who at one time held the record of "farthest north" in Arctic exploration, tried to climb K-2 in 1909, but failed because from whatever point of the compass he advanced he could find no way up to attain the summit. At 24,600 feet he and his companions were in good physical condition, although progress was slow and laborious; a thick mist warned them that to go on would be madness. This achievement of the Italian explorer, however, is the world's record for mountain climbing. Bride Peak is in the Karakoram Himalayas. Besides it and its two higher sister peaks, there are in the Himalayas no less than 75 peaks above 24,000 feet, 48 above 25,000 feet, 16 above 26,000 feet and five about 27,000 feet.

Mountain climbing is one of the most ancient as well as fascinating forms of adventure. Its chief dangers are avalanches, landslides, falling rocks, blizzards, falling ice, land-slides, falls from precipices or into crevasses, falls from ice slopes or down snow slopes.

Sir Francis' announcement of his intention to attempt this mountain climbing feat recalls the exploits of two American women, Mrs. Fannie B. Workman and Miss Annie S. Peck—and their conquest of some of the highest peaks in Asia and South America.

Mrs. Workman in 1899, 1902, 1906 and 1908, made ascents in the Himalayas, including one of the Nun Kun peaks whose summit is 23,300 feet high, or more than half a mile above the apex of that forbidding sentinel of the Alaskan sierras, Mt. McKinley. Miss Peck in 1908 negotiated the top of Mt. Huascaran in the Peruvian Andes, a height of 21,812 feet and three years later she climbed the two peaks of the volcano Coropuna.

Some of the notable mountain climbing peaks of history and the year in which the peaks of the various mountains were attained follow.

1744—The Titlis, the first true snow mountain; 1786, Mt. Blanc's summit reached for first time; 1811, the Jungfrau; 1812, the Finsteraarhorn; 1813, the Zermatt Breithorn; 1820, Pike's Peak; 1834, the Wetterhorn; 1855, the Mount Rosa; 1865, the Matterhorn; 1879, Chimborazo; 1883, the Cordillera; 1888, the Selkirkas; 1897, Aconcagua; 1898, the Bolivian Andes; 1899, Sikkim in the Himalayas; 1909, Mt. Ruwenzori. There have been no per-eminent achievements by explorers since the last named date.

MENACE IS SEEN BY HATRED OF ENGLAND FOUND IN AMERICA

(United Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Sir Phillips Gibbs, the famous correspondent, has returned from his short visit to the United States with one bitter memory—the hatred of England that is being sedulously and subtly cultivated in America.

In his book, "People of Destiny," he tells of his many pleasant recollections of New York and Boston but says:

"There is a propaganda of hate being spread throughout the country of most poisonous, malicious and dangerous character. In which England is represented as an arrogant, grasping and brutal country, intensely jealous of Uncle Sam and deliberately hostile. It is the same kind of propaganda which inflamed Germany against England, and England against Germany. It reaches down to the ignorance and passions of the same classes. Taunts in American newspapers are answered by gibes in English newspapers. Bitter speeches by American senators are cabled to England and hurt. They are answered by stinging satire.

"Is the world not old enough to get rid of all that silly, childish barbarism? Has it learned no lesson at all out of the massacre of its youth on the altar of stupidity? Are civilized peoples to go on flinging mud at each other for sport, uttering provocative cries like dirty little schoolboys for the sake of scoring off each other in newspapers of political debates, careless of the horrible dangers which are thereby caused?"

Discussing the means of best preventing this state of affairs, Sir Philip suggests a sort of journalists union.

"I do think," he says, "that there might be an international society of journalists pledged in honor to abstain from all provocative writing about other nations, and to denounce as unprofessional the conduct of any discussing them ears of best proof of spreading slander and spite calculated to disturb the world's peace."

By K. C. B.

Dear Mr. B.—You put it in the paper that you seen one step in a lot of slush down on the street and my mother read it and said Did you see me the truth how you got your feet so wet that rainy day and I said I did and she said Well how about this and showed me what was in the paper and if you're going to spy on the children round here you'd better move. All the boys know about it and there all sour. Your neighbor,

WILLIE.

MY DEAR Willie,

I FOUND your note.

UNDER MY door.

AND I'VE read it through.

A GREAT many times.

AND YOU'LL never know.

HOW SORRY I am.

FOR ALL the trouble.

I BROUGHT to you.

AND I promise now.

THAT AFTER this.

WHEN I sit up here.

IN MY window place.

I'LL USE great care.

IN WHAT I write.

OF WHAT I see.

DOWN ON the street.

AND NEVER again.

WILL I tell a thing.

THAT MAY bring grief.

TO ANYONE.

AND ANYWAY.

I SHOULD have known.

HOW HARD it is.

FOR LITTLE boys.

WITH JUST their parents.

TO NAG at them.

ABOUT WET feet.

AND THINGS like that.

WITHOUT the neighbors.

BUTTING IN.

AND SPYING down.

AND CARRYING tales.

AND AFTER this.

I'LL TRY my best.

AT REMEMBERING.

THAT ONCE on a time.

I WAS a boy.

AND ALL I ask.

IS THAT you'll forgive.

AND MAYBE forget.

AND NOT be sore.

AND BE friends again.

BECAUSE THE landlord says.

HE WON'T let me move.

TILL MY lease is up.

I THANK you.

Detroit Business Man Says a Good Word for Auto Man

J. B. Kirk, the Detroit ice manufacturer and prominent in business generally, who with his "Roosevelt family" is spending the winter on Ocean avenue, when asked what he thought of the rumor that the Ford and Buick automobile forces had joined hands, said:

"I would not think this hardly possible, but nothing is impossible. Before I would take much stock in it I would want to have it fully confirmed by Henry Ford and William Durant, the two principal factors. There was once a rumor that Ford had bought the General Motors company, but this proved to be untrue, although it fooled many people, the Dodge Brothers in particular. Many lost millions as a result. Both Ford and Durant are remarkable men. I can remember when Mr. Durant was a traveling salesman for a small sully factory with a very small salary, and now he is worth millions and the head of the General Motors and the founder of the Buick company. As for Mr. Ford, I don't believe he cares to branch out much more. He has said that he had more money than he needed, more than he could spend and that his remaining ambition in life is to do something to advance the welfare of the men who have worked for him and helped to amass his fortune. I personally know that Mr. Ford erected a fine lot of new homes at Dearborn that would readily have sold on the market for $12,000 and then turned around and sold them to his employees on the partial payment plan for from five to seven thousand dollars. There is no doubt he is in earnest and really wants to do the square thing for his men. This is the sort of monument he hopes to build for himself and for this great work he hopes to be remembered."

Business on the Up-Grade Reports Northern Visitor

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kahn of St. Louis, Mo., arrived yesterday and are occupying the Minnehaha apartments on Ocean avenue.

Mr. Kahn is an extensive wholesale dealer in women's ready to wear goods and he reports that business in his line has begun to show some improvement.

"Our trade, next to the automobile business, was the first to feel the depression," said Mr. Kahn, "and we have had hard sledding for a year. When silk took a slump retail merchants stopped buying anything in that or kindred lines, except what they actually had to have. Then out of every one hundred thousand dollars' worth of goods our salesman on the road had sold we at once received cancellation for at least 50 per cent, and then of the 50 per cent that was shipped about half of that was returned. This left us with a tremendous stock, for which we had to pay high prices. But we simply took what we could get for it and we are now just about getting down to normal trade. Many of the retail dealers have been obliged to do likewise and now they find themselves with light stocks. As a result they will soon have to begin buying, and their business activity will gradually get back to what it should be."

MISS VICTORIA HERMIS

AGAIN IN SUNNY SOUTH
Miss Victoria Hermis arrived in Daytona Monday from New York and has been warmly welcomed by her many friends in the Triple Cities. She is a sister of Mrs. Arb of Arb's Importers and had not intended to come to Florida this season, but when the zero weather hit the Empire State she felt a longing for the land of sunshine and flowers and realizing that it is better to pick grapefruit and oranges than snowballs, she caught a fast train and surprised everyone. Miss Hermis is probably personally acquainted with every winter visitor of note who has the Daytona habit, and numbers her friends by the legion. She has a pleasing personality and a gracious manner, which wins her friends wherever she goes.

From the Wolverine state the following pleasant party have arrived and secured apartments at 133 Orange street: Mr. and Mrs. G. A. McGregor and Harvey McGregor of Beaverton, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Harvey of Port Huron, Mich., and Dr. and Mrs. Edward Myer and Edward Myer, Jr., of Carsonville, Mich.

Wm. Faversham Picture Tuesday at Auditorium

William Faversham, the famous actor, will be seen at the Auditorium Thursday evening, January 27, in the famous North production, "The Sin That Was His."

Press notices from various sections indicate that in "The Sin That Was His," Frank L. Packard, the author, has achieved another "Miracle Man," his previous great success. It is seldom that an author produces two such great successes in rapid succession, but from all indications Mr. Packard has done that very same thing. "The Sin That Was His" has been pictured by Selznick Pictures, under the direction of Hobart Henley.

The story of this picture deals with humanity as it is found in the stretches of the great North, where the law is mostly home-made and applied. Faversham is seen in the exceptionally strong role of a real man in whom the instincts for good predominate, but who, through being misunderstood, grows to hate the world and its people—who turns against man and God. The story of his rejuvenation is as stirring and full of heart interest as it is original.

Driven from the town where he had made his home because his motives were misunderstood, Faversham, as Raymond Chapelle, professional gambler, goes on a mission of good. Arriving at his destination he is again the victim of a misunderstanding, which makes it appear that he has committed murder. Before his real identity is discovered, Chapelle takes the part of a priest, who was on his way to this town to take up a pastorate there, but who is seriously injured in a storm and found by Chapelle. An intensely dramatic situation develops here when the authorities decide that the injured priest committed murder and make arrangements to hang him just as soon as he is able to get around.

While ministering to the wants of the injured priest, Chapelle is overcome with the man's great love for humanity and this, together with the influence of a wonderful woman who has come into his life, work a rejuvenation which in the end brings happiness to all and eventually brings a confession from the person who really committed the murder.

From Jackson, Mich., the following pleasant party of relatives and friends have arrived and have taken an apartment at 130 Wild Olive street. Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, Mrs. Julian L. Hendrick, Kinmo Hendrick and Miss Betty Hendrick.

Royal Dadmun, Baritone, Sings Friday Night

Royal Dadmun, the popular and distinguished baritone, who is under the direct management of the Music League of America, will be the attraction in the regular Forum and Assembly Course at the Auditorium on Friday evening, January 28.

Royal Dadmun, the American baritone, is another striking example of what has been accomplished by an American artist in this country in the past few years. He has received his entire musical training at home, and the distinguished success which he has won is due entirely to his ability as an artist and his great popularity with his audiences. His recitals in New York, Boston and elsewhere have always elicited the highest praise from the critics and his tour as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra was a great success. Following this he made a tour of eight weeks as soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. Next came a long series of recital engagements with the principal music clubs and organizations. His work with the New York Oratorio Society during the Spring Festival in New York City, enlisting the services of seventeen famous soloists, was one of the notable events of the Festival.

A few of the oratorios, cantatas and operas, in which he has appeared with great success at the music festivals in New York City, Portland, Evanston, Kalamazoo, Des Moines, Winnipeg, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Keene, Nashua, New Orleans, Boston, Orlando, Hagerstown, Hutchinson, Minneapolis and many others.

"In Old Kentucky" Playing Seabreeze Theatre Tonight

A genuine fox hunt is shown in the first National picture, "In Old Kentucky," featuring Anita Stewart and which will be shown at the Seabreeze Opera House tonight.

Anita Stewart, "In Old Kentucky"

The hunters, both men and women, come out in answer to the horn, clad in gay garments, mounted on horses accustomed to cross country runs. A great pack of dogs are let loose and quickly pick up the scent of the fox. Then the chase is on, the dogs racing madly across hill and dale through hedges, over fences and across streams, the hunters following close behind.

The trained horses take hedge and fence without difficulty, many of the leaps being several feet high, the women as well as the men, negotiating the high and broad jumps with ease.

This is one of the interesting features of the picture which is the story of a young girl, who falls in love with a healthy young chieftain of the city, who is hunting near her home, and of the thrilling adventures through which she passes from the time she is an untutored child of the hills until she wins to recognition as a belle of the city.

The Thunderbolt Tomorrow
 The feature at the Seabreeze tomorrow afternoon and evening will be Katherine MacDonald, conceded to be the most beautiful woman on the screen in "The Thunderbolt" her latest picture. It is a feature which should easily pack the Seabreeze picture house.

PLANT OF LAKELAND STAR OPERA HOUSE, ARE GUTTED BY FIRE

LAKELAND, Jan. 25.—A fire of unknown origin which broke out in a grocery store of W. J. Waring Sunday night at 11 o'clock, swept through the Herron building and completely gutted the Lakeland Star and the Herron Opera House, doing an estimated damage of $65,000. The fire was brought under control at 2 o'clock Monday morning. One citizen was overcome by the flames while fighting the fire inside the building and had to be rushed to a hospital.

The fire department, answering a call at 11 o'clock, found the whole interior of the Waring grocery in flames and the flames licking upwards toward the Herron Opera House, which at present is unused. The flames, spreading rapidly, swept next door to the Lakeland Star, the morning newspaper, and that building is almost a complete loss. Editor Elson estimated the loss at his plant at $15,000. The grocery store is a complete loss, as is the opera house.

Two fire engines, the equipment of the Lakeland companies, did good work in stopping the flames from spreading, as a stiff breeze was blowing, serving as a severe handicap to their efforts. For three hours the conflagration raged and the whole surrounding country was lighted for miles in every direction. Eager spectators and volunteer firemen made the task of the fire fighters more difficult.

The damages, as estimated at an early hour Monday morning, will aggregate more than $65,000. The Waring grocery estimates its loss at $15,000, the Herron building, almost a total loss, is estimated at $30,000; the Star at $15,000, and the Herron Dry Goods and Notion company, from loss by water, places its damage at about $5,000. The whole stock is soaking from the thousands of gallons of water poured in its direction.

The scene of the fire is half a block away from the scene of the big $150,000 fire which swept the city last year. Several theories have been advanced as to the origin of the blaze. The matches kept in stock by the grocery store, were in the rear of the building, and as this is where the fire started, it is thought that rats may have gnawed through a box and started the fire.

Incenturism is not suspected, according to the most reliable reports. The Herron building was a big structure on Main street.

London's fog expert has a machine on which he weighs and otherwise records each fog that comes to the city.

OUR DEBTS PROMPTLY
After paying bills on time dinner is very greatly on the part of the debtor. If very handy and convenient fill it for a charge for courtesy's sake the
"Why certainly, that's perfect." If the business men with courtesy and willingness to pay would be very days as the majority of
by the charging system.

is this it would be lovely if were paid promptly. There is people who never intend to when his made. This class out a lack of trust in the prompt payment of bills is square treatment to those
you. The men, who are so to be willing for you to naturally expect you to pay therefore it is only right should rather their kindness our debts.

is another class of people in cash payment. You this class more honest in in the "charge it" class. In this promptly one does not up credit and trust in business, but people will soon put confidence in you at all all will find a person who pays has more friends than the right. There was once a family just moved to a new town.
member of the family was the that made friends easily. Instead they started charging.
was thought of this until a of debts had been sent out was recognized.

soon noticed that this hap-not only at one store but of the stores in town. The was taken to court and the were given notice to leave after further investigation it that this family was in the going from one town to an-charging everything and any-possible. There are many such right among us. Many times is overlooked and when comes to pay them it is very hard to meet them with promptness. Therefore, we should be as if not more so, with small the large ones.

hindering the creditor this payment is often hard on the man as he often depends on any coming in to pay his own which he has to pay in order to stock in his store.
looking over this matter, if we be fair enough to look at both of the question, because there are two sides. I think both the debtor and creditor would profit far from the results of "Pay Your Promptly."

OWN YOUR OWN HOME

subject of "Own Your Own Home" has often been discussed by men in every stage of life. A poor man says he can't afford one.
A rich man says he owns two.
And the middle class usually just one.

A poor man says he can't afford a home, but he can afford to rent all his life. By using a little logic anyone can see how a man can pay for a home in two or three years with the money he would have spent in that length of time.
At the rate of rent now, a man would pay money annually if he owned a home.

ing up the middle class man class of men could afford a home.
Many of them say, "Why should I rent and build a home when I rent just what I want." Can you rent a house there is some inconvenience which would not be your own home. Perhaps it is a small thing, but just the same there and you are always distressed with it.

en take the rich man. The rich usually moves about a good deal south in the winter and going every summer. Do you, Mr.
man, ever grow tired of hotel life?
You ever long to sit down in your living room, with only your family around, for a quiet meal? How could he. Don't say there is no to buy, because there is, and a real estate man in Daytona tell you the same.

en too, there are splendid sites over the city for homes. Architects will only be too glad to show plans for any kind of a home you want, or need.

gives a man or a woman a good standing to own a home sometime. If you can say, "I have a home," you have something to be proud of.
en too, Mr. Man, think of your children. They are growing, but Just live in rented houses they never feel so much at home as they do in their own home. I know of one case where a young traveling salesman was taken ill on his route. His brother was with him. The boy was taken to the hospital where he grew somewhat better. Then he moved to a hotel where he is at present. I asked him why he didn't go home. He said, simply for the reason that I have no home. My parents are in Jacksonville but they live in a flat where they have no room for me. If I went anywhere I would go to Palm Beach where a Fraternity Brother of mine lives with his wife. He has a home.

Let this suffice, think it over. What class are YOU in?

Sergt. Reynolds Brings Down Aviator Burns

Sergeant Jack Reynolds brought down Aviator Burns from Carlstrom Field at the Annapolis last night. The fight was scheduled for 10 rounds, but terminated in the fourth, when the seconds of Kid Burns threw in the sponge after he had taken the count of nine and seemed in a bad way. The going was rough for the aviator from the tap of the glove. Just as he made off he ran into an air pocket caused by the impact of the sergeant's glove, and it looked as if he was due to take a fall spin. He weathered the storm for the time being by covering up, but couldn't carry his plane above the gathering storm, which increased in fury as Sergeant Reynolds unceremoniously wallop after wallop with scarcely a return. The aviator kept his head in a vise formed with his gloves, and his opponent peeked away at will.
Reynolds demonstrated his speed and should be a worthy opponent for some good man of his weight, 133 pounds.
Kid Burns weighed 136 pounds.

Young Burke of New York took on Kid Slipes of Daytona. The tourist had the roach and three pounds the best of the weight. He has the movement of a finished fighter and clearly outpointed the local lad, who took many blows for three rounds and then quit cold, stating that he felt badly.
He didn't even wait for the going to start the fourth round, to see if his health would improve during the minute's rest.

The curtain raiser, a four round sparring exhibition between Jack Turner of Daytona and Donald Campbell of Montreal, was the best set of the evening and resulted in a draw.
The battle royal was a scrap. One dusky Ethiopian entered the ring wearing a red sash, and the referee declared that the winner would receive the sash as a championship belt.
It changed hands, being carried by the Flying Catfish from the Ridgewood hotel.

Cash and Clothes Stolen From Beach Apartment Sunday

While spending the afternoon on the beach Sunday Mr. and Mrs. James M. Merrifield, of Fort Fairfield, Me., winter guests at the Phillips apartment house on Main street, near the river front, had the misfortune to have their apartment entered, a sum of about $100 being stolen in addition to a quantity of silk underwear.

On their return from the beach Mr. and Mrs. Merrifield found their apartment in a disheveled state, $50 which was wrapped in a cloth and placed under the mattress being gone, also about $45 which Mr. Merrifield had in a pocket of a shirt hanging in a closet. Several suits of silk underwear were also missing.

A party who has apartment in the same house reported that during the afternoon she had seen a girl ride up on a bicycle, enter the house by the rear entrance, and had not seen her since. The girl was described as a decided blond, with rather long hair, a good description being given.

Officer W. P. Young has been at work on the case since it was reported, but to date has been unsuccessful in locating the girl who is suspected of the robbery.

Will Tell of Some Experiences Met While in India

In these days when the work seems very small indeed, and races which once were neglected and despised are demanding and obtaining their place in the sun increased interest is being manifested in the progress of missionary work in the Far East. Anybody who has first-hand information to give and who has witnessed for himself the eagerness with which India, especially, is accepting Christianity, is sure of an eager and attentive audience while speaking of these things.

Miss Clementina Butler is such a one, and can hold an audience while she tells of her thrilling experiences among the Hindoos. This she will do on Thursday evening the 27th in the Methodist church in Daytona. Miss Butler is the daughter of Dr. William Butler whose record as a missionary in India is well known. He was one of those who passed through the trying experiences of the India mutiny, having been in the beleaguered city of Lucknow when 1,200 people held out against 10,000 mutineers, and were finally relieved by British troops under the command of General Havelock. Dr. John Butler who is also known for his splendid work in Mexico is a brother of Miss Clementina, and this will lend additional interest to her visit.

Residents and visitors of Daytona may be depended upon to make the most of this opportunity of hearing a most interesting story from the lips of one so able to tell it as Miss Butler.
The meeting will open at 7:30, and there will be no charge made for admission, as the chief object of the meeting is educational. An offering will probably be taken however for the work of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, which organization Miss Butler represents.

First National Bank Re-elects Former Officials

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the First National Bank of Daytona, held Saturday evening, all officers and directors of the organization who performed their duties with such great success the past year were re-elected to office.

One of the interesting features of the meeting was the report showing a 40 per cent increase in the banking business of this firm during the past year, over the preceding year.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are:

President, W. M. Hawkins.
Vice president, J. A. Clark.
Cashier, C. D. Dyal.
Asst. cashiers, E. P. Cordell and Elmer Sims.
The board of directors during this year will be composed of W. M. Hankins, J. A. Clark, B. B. Haggart, Wm.
Atwood, John J. Randall, Louis Adler
and C. D. Dyal.

Charities of City Will Require Sum of $5,000 this Year

In the annual report of the Associated Charities for the year 1920, issued in book form today, it is stated that the charities' work during 1921 will require the sum of $5,000, besides a quantity of old clothing, new dress for school children, and other articles of this nature.

The report shows a splendid growth of the organization the past year, collections amounting from $2,778.67 in 1919 to $4,041.27 in 1920, and tells briefly the work which has been done the past year in relieving the poor of the community. In the report at the close of the year, as published, a contribution made by the Philanthropic department of the Palmto club appeared as $150 instead of $175, due to a clerical error, a contribution of $25 made during Christmas week not being included.

Late Chairman of County Board Will Be Buried in Ky.

Funeral services were conducted this morning at Orange City over the remains of the late E. M. Carpenter, chairman of the board of county commissioners, and well known politician of the west side of the county, who passed away suddenly Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock, after an illness extending over some months, at the late Mr. Carpenter was ill seriously but a short time.

The body was shipped to the former home in Kentucky today, where interment will be made.

Mr. Carpenter was 69 years of age, having resided in Volusia county for many years. At the first of this year he completed his first term on the county board, and on Jan. 3, just past, was elected chairman of the board for this term.

It is understood that a meeting of the county executive committee will be called within a few days in an attempt to appoint a successor to the late Mr. Carpenter. Governor Hardee, it is understood, has the appointment of the successor and a "show down" with the executive board is anticipated over the appointment.

Sidney Haigh, for many years one of the most prominent residences of 11:30 Monday evening, death being caused by heart failure, the late Mr.

Haigh having been in ill health for several years, but as well as usual during Monday and Monday evening.
After retiring about 11 o'clock, Mrs.
Haigh noted that her husband was

Interesting, Though Tragic and Terrible, Experiences in Holy Land Related by Tourist

Herbert Turrell of New York City and East Orange, N. J., returned Friday evening to the Clarendon. Mr. Turrell, accompanied by his wife and Miss Margaret Hobbs on an auto trip to Seabreeze from New York about two weeks ago, after which he returned to his business duties in the city. This morning, with the two ladies, he left by auto for Palm Beach and Miami, where they will spend some time.

Mrs. Turrell has for many years been actively engaged in historical research work and is prominent in historical societies. She is justly proud of the fact that she is the only woman national officer of the society of Mayflower descendants. Any person who can establish their eligibility to membership in this society may well be proud of their Americanism, and few are those who ever attain to the prominence of Mrs. Turrell. She has been very active in the work of the D. A. R. and is as well a Colonial Dame. She is a woman of broad experience and has traveled extensively in this and foreign countries. She was the presiding regent of the pilgrimage made to the Holy Land by the National D. A. R. in 1919 when some very thrilling and tragic experiences formed a part of their trip. Of this pilgrimage Mrs. Turrell said:

"Our party of American women were in the Mosque of Omar when we were attacked by the Afghanistans fanatic who was making pilgrimages to the sacred shrines of the Moslems. Two of the American women were shot and one was struck in the face, destroying an eye and terribly mutilating and disfiguring her."

"It was our special guide, Aries Jamel, son of the secretary of the English legation, who caught the fanatic as he was about to reload his gun to kill every 'heretic woman' in the mosque? He was twice taken by the soldiers, but it was an experience that I have never fully recovered from and was a most terrible and tragic happening."

"We had but recently passed through Constantinople, where there was much trouble between the old and new regimes. The young Turk was trying to secure the state seal from Abdul Hamed, then in prison. This seal was under the control of the German Kaiser, and Abdul Hamed refused to release the treasure. When in the mosque we believed that the shooting was due to this Turkish uprising of the two factions. This shooting up of American women, who were peacefully traveling as private citizens of the United States, created great fear throughout the country among the foreign element."

Continuing, Mrs. Turrell said: "Another feature of more than passing interest to us was the building of the stone highway from Jerusalem to the Jordan by the German government. We walked along this highway and watched the white slave women of the German government at this task. With great burdens of stone they walked from the Kedron valley to the road above, while the Turkish overseers sat on the side hills and jeered and insulted these patient, silent women, who never faltered in their work. Their stolid bearing was very impressive and tragedy was written in every line of their features. In my heart I cried out: 'O, God, how long?'"

Speaking of the outcome of more recent events Mrs. Turrell said: "I can visualize General Allenby's triumphant army passing over this highway, and if the slave women lived to know, they must have felt some compensation for their heroic work."

At this time Mrs. Turrell said the Society of Mayflower Descendants is engaged in the restoration of Cole's Hill in Plymouth, Mass. It was on Cole's Hill that the little Pilgrim colony secretly buried their dead, that their enemies, the Indians, might not know how rapidly death was claiming them and how weak the colony was becoming. When the city of Plymouth was founded, in excavating for the streets, the bones of these heroic pilgrims were discovered and carefully saved. The Society of Mayflower Descendants made further discoveries, and in the restoration of the Hill the streets of Plymouth were altered to pass around the Hill instead of over it as heretofore. A wonderful monument of two shades of green marble will be erected over the crypt that will contain the bones of these forefathers."

Mrs. Turrell is a descendant of John and Elizabeth Tilley and John Howland of Plymouth fame. Major General Leonard Wood is the governor general of the Society of Mayflower Descendants and the organization numbers among its members many of the great Americans of the time.

Mrs. Turrell has the distinction and refinement that marks the true gentlewoman, and to meet and know her is a genuine pleasure.

Director James Heaton of the Auditorium has received several music scores of "The Lost Princess," which were ordered from Mrs. Hortense R. Reynolds, the director, by members of the local club. Those giving the orders will find them at the office of Mr. Heaton in the Auditorium.

Gen. Charles A. Dawes of Chicago, who was controller of the U. S. treasury under President McKinley and who is being prominently spoken of as the secretary of the treasury in the Harding cabinet, is a relative of Bill Lindsey, the popular aviator. Bill's father, Walter Lindsey, who was also a Chicago man, was a cousin of Mr. Dawes, their grandfathers being brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Randall of Niles, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shreve of Michigan City, Ind., are recent arrivals. They will occupy the Beach cottage on Live Oak street. Mr. and Mrs. Randall are the parents of Cashier C. A. Randall of the East Coast State bank, who is entertaining them temporarily. Later they will join Mr. and Mrs. Shreve in the cottage.

Many of the foremost men in America after trying other places have become permanent residents of Daytona and vicinity, thus proving by their works that considered from all angles the Daytona section appeals to them as does no other place. For instance, the richest man in the world after trying Southern California for several years and then Georgia, and then spending two or three winters here, has made this his permanent winter home, and has built a beautiful residence on the Halifax.

Many others, leaders in American life, have done the same thing. Probably no other community in America can show such a list of prominent winter home owning residents.

SMOKE CANDLES TO PLAY BIG PART IN ALL FUTURE WARS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—Toxic smoke candles, recently developed, will have an extensive use in future wars, in the opinion of L. I. Shaw, of the internal bureau of mines, who recently spoke on "Smoke and Incendiary Material," before the Franklin Institute.

"Smoke candles, so called," he said
 "are small cylindrical boxes which are ignited by some sort of friction device and which contain smoke-producing mixtures. Their use is in setting up a smoke screen close at hand, for after ignition they are simply set on the ground not being thrown or projected in any way. The need is very apparent to make the movements of small groups of men close at hand possible.

"The British, early in the war, developed very satisfactory smoke candles which were used by all the allies. The Americans also developed a candle which was satisfactory, but which did not get into production and use in France before the armistice.
 The smoke is normally white, must have maximum capacity and be cool enough to prevent the setting up of air currents and thus rise from the ground. It must be heavy so as to be displaced by the minimum amount of wind of low velocity. These requirements are admirably met by candles which produce a smoke consisting of zinc chloride.

"As regards the future of incendiary material, my own opinion, which opinion, however, is substantiated by at least some of the military critics, is that incendiary material, except for small arms and long range shell and drop bombs will have at least a very limited and perhaps no use. The flame projectors will probably never be used in a future war. Smoke material, on the other hand, will have a very extensive and ever-increasing use. By the use of the smoke screen during an attack the casualties can be largely reduced."

There was in progress of development by the British and Americans during the latter part of the war, smoke candles which would give a toxic smoke. The toxic material employed was diphenylchlorarsine. Diphenylchlorarsine is a solid which vaporizes in the heat of the candle and is obtained in such a state of division that it will penetrate most gas masks.
 Such toxic smokes of which there will probably be others developed, will find a very extensive use in the future. It is the greatest step made thus far in the new use of smoke."
